Dear colleagues,

SingStimmZentrum Zürich (SSZZ) and ORL Schlieren are pleased to announce that we have been able to secure Jacob Lieberman, one of the absolute international experts in the field of manual therapy and osteopathy for the treatment of the larynx, for a course in Schlieren.

He is one of the world's leading experts in this field and has treated countless voice patients in his practices in London, Hamburg and Israel. His popular course for laryngologists, ENT doctors, speech and language therapists, physiotherapists and osteopaths will now take place in Switzerland for the first time on 25/26 June 2022 at the SingStimmZentrum Zurich.

His techniques are not only about reducing tone in the larynx and pharynx or regaining muscular flexibility, but also about breaking through habitually acquired, stuck patterns of movement and function in the laryngeal area.

The course includes a detailed overview of the functional anatomy of the larynx and the respiratory system, referral criteria to the ENT or laryngologist, important points in taking a medical history, as well as a lot of practical exercises for examining the larynx and an introduction to the manual techniques developed by Jacob Lieberman over the years.

The course combines theory, years of clinical experience in the field with lots of practical work.

Biography:

Jacob Lieberman is an internationally recognized specialist in the physical and emotional treatment of hyperfunctional voice disorders. As an osteopath and psychotherapist he has developed the Lieberman protocol for laryngeal examinations as well as manual therapy to relieve muscle tension and mobilize the laryngeal joints. He is a staff member at the Lewisham University Hospital in London and the MEDICAL VOICE CENTER in Hamburg. He is the main author and co-author of publications on questions of posture and voice disorders as well as the mechanical dysfunction of the larynx. He has contributed to standard works: „The Voice Clinic Handbook“ (Harris et al., 1998, Whurr Publishers, London), „Diagnosis and Treatment of Voice Disorders“ (Sataloff).

His research focuses on the effects of laryngeal manipulation on vocalization.

He teaches ENT doctors and speech therapists and voice therapists in the UK and internationally in the use of laryngeal examination and therapy handles.

Jacob Lieberman has also trained voice therapists from Europe, Canada and the US in laryngeal examination and treatment. He has developed his own course material and teaches voice-based master classes at UCL (University College London) as well as advanced courses for students at the Michlalat Hadassah in Jerusalem and the University of British Columbia.
